2 Leetonia Children Victims

4 Persons Injured In Road Mishaps

Four persons, including two Leetonia children, were hurt in weekend traffic accidents on area highways.

Three children escaped serious injury in a three-car, chain reaction type accident on Rt. 7, about two miles north of Boardman, at 12:43 p.m. Saturday.

Treated at Youngstown South Side Hospital and released were: Sherry Cook, 11, of 219 Main St., Leetonia, possible fractured nose.

John Toler, 7, of 63 Elm St., lacerated jaw.

Laura Lane, 5, of 3416 Sunnybrook Drive, Youngstown, possible concussion.

According to the Ohio Highway Patrol, the children were passengers in a car driven by Edward J. Lane, 28, of Youngstown, which had stopped in a line of traffic behind cars operated by Paul W. McLaughlin, 20, of Struthers, and Mrs. Ann Dutko, 37, of Youngstown.

Auto Fails To Stop

A fourth car, driven by David A. Tirigyi, 19, of Struthers, failed to stop and rammed the rear of the Lane car, forcing it into Mrs. Dutko's auto, the Patrol said. The McLaughlin car was not hit.

Tirigyi was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance. Vielma K. Varso, 38, of 107 E. 6th St., East Liverpool, is in fair condition at East Liverpool City Hospital with injuries received in a one-car accident on Rt. 30, about one mile northwest of her home, at 12:40 a.m. Sunday.

She suffered lacerations of her face and both knees and possible internal injuries.

The Patrol said she was traveling west when her car ran off the left side of the highway and over an embankment.

No one was hurt in a two-car mishap on Rt. 7, one mile southwest of East Liverpool, at 2 a.m. Sunday. A car operated by Daner D. Adkins, Jr., 20, of East Liverpool ran into the rear of another north-bound auto driven by John W. Maley, 22, also of East Liverpool, the Patrol reported.

Emerson B. Wimer, 24, of RD 1, Wellsville, escaped injury but his car was demolished when he failed to negotiate a curve on the Y & O Rd. and crashed into a power pole three and one-half miles south of Rt. 30 at 3:30 a.m. Sunday.

A transformer was knocked off the pole and power lines fell onto the road.

At 3:55 a.m. a car operated by Clifford Holland, 25, of MC 22, East Liverpool, came along and struck the power lines in the road, damaging the front of the vehicle.

Carl T. Brown, 24, of Milwaukee, Wis., was cited for driving left of center after his car skidded on wet pavement and sideswiped an oncoming car operated by Donald J. Duffy, 38, of East Liverpool, on Rt. 30, about a half-mile southeast of Rt. 45, at 9:45 a.m. Sunday. Neither driver was hurt.

Ohio Traffic Toll 23 Over Weekend

Traffic Drowning 23 Miscellaneous 4 Total 27

By The Associated Press
Ohio's weekend death toll, boosted by four multiple fatality traffic accidents and Sunday's carnage, climbed to the second highest count of the year.

During the 54-hour period from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday, at least 23 persons were killed on Ohio highways, 4 drowned, 3 died of burns and 2 others lost their lives in miscellaneous accidents — making the overall toll 32.

Of the final count, 20 died on Sunday—14 of those in traffic accidents.

The only higher toll so far in 1962 came the weekend of Feb. 24 when 30 persons were killed on the highways and 12 others in miscellaneous accidents.

U. S. Denounces Rebel Attack

Reds Take Key Laos Town

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Pro-Communist forces have captured Nam Tha, a provincial capital only 20 miles from Red China's border that the royal Laotian government had vowed to defend to death.

Premier Boun Oum's government and Peiping radio today announced the fall of the town to the rebels after a Sunday of fighting. The United States denounced the rebel attack as a violation of the year-old cease-fire but U.S. officials in Washington generally hoped it would not wreck attempts to set up a coalition neutralist regime to take Laos out of the cold war.

Boun Oum's Information Minister Bouavann Norasing said the 5,000 defenders of Nam Tha had been evacuated and the city was now in enemy hands.

The only overland escape route from Nam Tha, which had been under siege for four months, was a road leading to Houei Sai, 150 miles to the southwest on the Thai border.

FACE TRIAL TOGETHER. Dr. Robert Boehme and his wife stand side by side outside court in Port Orchard, Wash., where the physician is on trial on a charge of first degree assault with intent to kill his wife. The complaint accused Dr. Boehme of injecting poison into her arm under the guise of taking a blood sample when she was ill last fall. Mrs. Dorothy Boehme has repeatedly stated her belief in her husband's innocence. Also involved in the bizarre case are Dr. Boehme's former sister-in-law and the county prosecutor.

Man Kills Ex-Wife, Five Children, Self

ZION, Ill. (AP) — A former mental patient brought his five children home from church Sunday, slashed them and his ex-wife to death, and waited until police found the carnage, then killed himself.

Police said Rolland Bauer, 31, a factory worker and electrician, slew his former wife, Alice Jean, 26, and their three sons and two daughters by slitting their throats with a butcher knife.

Police Chief Robert Corder said he understood that Mrs. Bauer, who was divorced in April, 1961, was seeing another man and had hopes of marriage.

The Rev. Clarence E. Fast, pastor of the Grace Missionary Church in Zion, said he saw Bauer and the five youngsters in church. The clergyman said Bauer had been despondent recently. The Rev. D. Fast said Bauer, a gunfancier had wanted a reconciliation with his former wife, but apparently had not been successful.

Bodies Found in Bedroom

The bodies of Mrs. Bauer and the children were found in the bloodied bedroom of an apartment they shared in Zion, a community of about 11,000 some 40 miles north of Chicago. The butcher knife apparently used in the slayings was found in the kitchen of the basement apartment, police said.

Bauer, who lived near his family after the divorce, died in a car parked across the street from the slaying scene. He shot himself in the head with a .357 magnum revolver as a policeman approached his car.

Deputy Corner Robert H. Babcox said it appeared that Mrs. Bauer and the youngsters had been dead three or four hours before their bodies were discovered.

Pope John Names Peru Mulatto Saint

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII has proclaimed a Peruvian mulatto handyman a saint and held up his dedicated life among the poor and sick as a valuable example for youth in the modern world.

A throng of 30,000 faithful from all parts of the world attended the canonization of Dominican Brother Martin de Porres Sunday in St. Peter's basilica.

The new saint was born out of wedlock nearly 400 years ago, son of a Spanish noble and his Negro mistress.

The vast throng jamming St. Peter's included representatives of the white, yellow, black and brown races. Thirty-eight cardinals were present, including Laurian Cardinal Rugambwa of Tanganyika, first Negro to become a prince of the church. Also present were Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York, Albert Gregory Cardinal Meyer of Chicago and Joseph Cardinal Ritter of St. Louis.

POWER DISRUPTED

VERMILION, Ohio (AP) — Lightning struck a 23,000-volt substation here Sunday and knocked out power in most of the homes in the Lorain-Erie county community for six hours.

The same storm caused a short-circuit on a transformer in Lorain at the Edgewater plant of Ohio Edison Co. Power in parts of Lorain and Amherst was out for 35 minutes.

Small Ohio Turnout Predicted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Now it's up to the voters. They get a chance Tuesday to talk back to the near-record field of 68 statewide candidates who have been wooing Ohio voters for 90 days.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, who seems to have a slide-rule for a mind when it comes to estimating the total Ohio vote, says he hopes he's wrong when he guesses only a few more than 20 per cent of eligible Ohioans will go to the polls Tuesday.

6.5 Million Could Vote

Brown believes 740,000 Democrats and 660,000 Republicans will vote—a total of 1,400,000. He estimates 6.5 million Ohioans could vote if they bothered to qualify. His estimate of 80,000 more Democratic votes in the primary, he says, is based on greater voter interest on that side of the political fence. Polls open at 6:30 a.m. and close at 6:30 p.m., EST.

The big noise of the primary campaign just ended has been in the Democratic race for the gubernatorial nomination. Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy has managed to stir up something of a minor tempest, but doesn't figure to be able to take the nomination away from Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, Ohio's first four-year-term chief executive.

In addition to making nominations in that race, voters also will select candidates for U.S. Senator, all elective state offices, congressman at large, 23 congressional seats in designated districts and hundreds of county offices, and decide scores of local issues.

No Contest In GOP

The so-called race for the Republican nomination for governor doesn't seem to be a contest at all. James A. Rhodes of Columbus, former Columbus mayor who has been state auditor 10 years, figures to win hands down over William L. White of Mount Vernon.

Probably of next greatest public interest is the four-man contest for the Republican nomination for U.S. senator. None of the four is widely known. They seek the right to oppose Democratic incumbent Frank J. Lausche in the November election.

John Marshall Briley of Toledo appears to be the front-runner. He is a former New York attorney who came to Ohio 10 years ago to become an executive of the Owens-Corning Fiberglass Co.

He is opposed by state Sens. Ross Pepple of Lima, Charles E. Fry of Springfield and John W. Ballard, Summit County prosecutor.

Even though he has been the butt of countless jibes by organized labor because of his conservative voting record, Lausche appears to be in no trouble in his renomination bid. The Ohio AFL-CIO probably could work up a far more complimentary vote for Albert T. Ball of Cleveland, one of its former organizers, if it chose, but there has been no indication of such an effort.

Raymond Warren Beringer of Toledo is the third man in the race.

There is a wide range of opinion about the ultimate victor in the 11-man race for the Democratic nomination for congressman at large. DiSalle has said he, personally, will vote for Cincinnati Councilman John J. Gilligan. But Alan F. Reeves of Cleveland, a former aide to U.S. Sen. Stephen M. Young, has conducted a far more active campaign. On the Republican side in the

Italians Name Segni President

Pro-Westerner Wins on 9th Ballot

ROME (AP)—Election of Christian Democrat middle-roader Antonio Segni as president of Italy threatened today to jar loose the props under his own party's new left-leaning government.

The lean, 71-year-old pro-Westerner foreign minister finally won the nation's highest office Sunday night after an unprecedented nine parliamentary ballots that ended in fist fights.

Voting against him to the bitter end were leftwing rebels of his own party and the solid strength of all three other parties that figure in the Christian Democrats' new experiment with a government that leans on Socialist support.

A scattering of Christian Democrat votes that previously had gone to retiring President Giovanni Gronchi finally swung over to Segni and put him 15 votes over the required 428 majority.

Against him were the Communists, Socialists, Democratic Socialists and Republicans. The Democratic Socialists and Republicans are members of the Christian Democrat coalition government. The Socialists have pledged the support the alliance needs for a parliamentary majority.

Democratic Socialist party leader Giuseppe Saragat, was Segni's close opponent in the presidential race.

In a letter to Christian Democrat party chief Aldo Moro, Saragat refused to withdraw his candidacy and throw his party into support of the Christian Democrat candidate. He said he would with-

U.S. Fires A-Test From Polaris Sub

WASHINGTON (AP) —

The United States has fired its first long range ballistic missile armed with a nuclear warhead—a Polaris missile rocketed out over the Pacific from a nuclear submarine.

The test Sunday was the fifth nuclear explosion in Operation Dominic—the series of U.S. atmospheric tests. The four previous shots were dropped from planes.

How far the missile darted over the Pacific or how much wallow it carried was not disclosed. A Polaris has a range of about 1,400 miles and its warhead's explosive power is estimated at about the equivalent of 600,000 tons of TNT.

The joint announcement Sunday by the Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department said the weapon was triggered at about 6:45 p.m. EST in the Christmas Island testing area.

The missile was launched by the Polaris submarine Ethan Allen and presumably from deep in the ocean but an AEC spokesman declined to confirm this.

The Polaris has been test-fired many times previously but always with a dummy warhead.

The ballistic missile is one of the few pieces of ordnance ever developed by the United States and put in the hands of operating forces without having been given full-scale field tests.

Prior to Sunday, there had been no combined U.S. test of the two major components—the missile and warhead. A complete, all-out test firing never had been made. A nuclear charge never had been fired in missile trajectory out into space.

Four Killed, Three Hurt In Pike Crash

IRWIN, Pa. (AP)—A two-car collision triggered a second two-car crash Sunday on the rain slick Pennsylvania Turnpike near the Irwin interchange. Four persons died and three, including a Warren, Ohio marine, were injured.

The dead: Gary Leonard, 22, Greensburg; Eileen McDonald, 21, Jeannette; marine Joseph Mercer, 19, Moundsville, W. Va., and marine James Shifflett, 21, Weirton, W. Va.

The injured were Marine David Holt, 19, Warren, Ohio; Marine Frank F. Losco Jr., 21, Baden R. D. 1, and Mrs. Andrew Anderson, 62, Pittsburgh.

Holt was taken to Presbyterian Hospital in Pittsburgh in critical condition.

Police said the west-bound Leonard car veered across the medial strip about five miles west of Irwin and rammed broadside against the car carrying the Marines.

The Anderson car skidded across the highway divider while avoiding the wreckage of the other two cars. It struck a fourth car.

Anderson was not hurt nor were the occupants of the fourth car, Robert Wiser, 50, and Mrs. Patrick Critchfield, 26, both of Elyria, Ohio.

Public Probe of Securities Business Launched Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first broad public investigation of the securities business since 1934 was launched here today with a promise there would be none of the trappings of a prosecution.

Milton H. Cohen, director of the inquiry being conducted by the Securities and Exchange Commission, said in a prepared statement opening two weeks of public hearings:

"We are here engaged in a special study of securities markets, not in a prosecution or enforcement proceeding against any one or more individuals or firms."

Cohen said the aim would be "to examine the strength and weaknesses of present-day practices and controls" in the industry, to see whether further steps were necessary to protect investors.

The last major inquiry of this kind was conducted in 1933-34 by the Senate Banking Committee and led to the creation of the SEC.

Attention was directed first today at the qualifications, training, supervision and sales tactics of mutual fund salesmen. Leading the list of industry witnesses were Walter Benedict, president of Investors Planning Corp. of America, and H. L. Hamieson, president of King Merritt & Company, Inc., both of New York City.

Cohen said the schedule "should not be taken to mean that mutual funds or their practices are being singled out for particular attention or criticism."

Brokerage firms will be heard from later. Among those invited to testify are representatives of such firms as Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Inc., and Bache & Company.

24 Reject Pentagon-Proposed Cutback

States Spurn 'Guard' Plan

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Twenty-four states have spurned a Pentagon request for suggestions on which of their Army National Guard units should be disbanded.

Of the 26 states which have replied, many are believed to have made it clear they will not cooperate with the National Guard Bureau in a planned nationwide cutback of 475 units which the Army says it no longer needs.

The White House, meanwhile, deferred action on a bid by a governors' committee to plead its case before President Kennedy.

The governors' request for a meeting with Kennedy has been handed on to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara for his advice, the White House press office said.

The Army stressed the cutback plan so far is its own and has not yet been approved by McNamara.

It says it doesn't want to undercut the Guard and the reserve, but to make them more effective.

In a letter to Gov. Norman Erbe of Iowa, Kennedy appeared to back up the Army in principle, saying there is a need to realign American military resources.

Maj. Gen. Donald W. McGowan, chief of the Guard Bureau, triggered a barrage of protests last week when he sent each governor a terse message stating the number and type of unit the Army is thinking of eliminating in each of their states. In general, the objective is to apply an average 10 per cent cut in units.

McGowan asked that the governors forward by May 3 their nominations of specific units to be eliminated, along with certain other information on the impact the action would have in their states.

Asked how many states had responded to McGowan's request, the Guard Bureau said 24 states, plus the District of Columbia had not done so.

It said 26 states—and Puerto Rico—had sent replies of some sort. They are: Arizona, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Hawaii, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Maine, Maryland, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Carolina and Wyoming.

So far as is known, not a single governor's voice has been raised in support of the plan.

The law stipulates that governors must agree before any units wholly within their states are changed or disbanded.

However, some Army officers said that if the Pentagon wanted to get tough, it could withdraw recognition from Guard units it no longer needed and thus cut off their federal drill pay and any first class equipment. They emphasized this probably would be a last resort.

Over-all, the Army wants to trim about 824 of its 8,800 miscellaneous Guard and Army Reserve units to reduce its Reserve-Guard manpower by 58,000 men. The money now spent on paying these men would be applied to increasing training drills for the 642,000 who would remain on the rolls.

The Army said it has a state-by-state plan for spreading the elimination of nearly 350 reserve units, but declined to make it public. The reserve comes wholly under the federal government, so the governors have no say in this part of the reorganization program.

The outfits to be dropped generally would be types now considered obsolete, such as anti-aircraft gun batteries, or surplus, like certain truck and engineer units. Also ticketed for elimination are some infantry battle groups.

As a key part of the plan, six picked Guard infantry divisions would be built close to full 14,000-man strength and given top quality weapons and equipment so they would be in position on short notice to back up the 16 regular Army divisions.

In past years, Congress has blocked efforts to trim the Guard and reserve by appropriating money and ordering that it be spent to keep manpower levels up.

The Army long has sought to reshape the Guard and reserve in the stated belief the present organization is not suited to the needs of today's warfare.

Dr. Ben Kovitz, clinical director, said the disease is salmonella. He added that it has about 150 different strains. Until it can be definitely determined, visitors have been asked to stay away from the institution and movement between wards has been restricted.

The Scouts Have Spotted a Stray

Texas and Billie Sol Estes are so remote it's hard to make the Senate investigation of this man with the improbable name seem real.

But he and the investigation are as real as what happened to Sherman Adams in 1958. When the assistant to President Eisenhower was turned into an investigative target, the effect on the congressional election was the real aim of the investigators.

The marksmen had spotted a political stray they could bring down with a volley of shots. When he finally had been made helpless, he resigned to avert further embarrassment to President Eisenhower and the Republican party. He charged that a "calculated and contrived attack" had been made to destroy him and to embarrass the administration and the President.

It was pointed out at the time that not all the attackers were Democrats; some were Republicans. Their technique was ruthless. They drove a man out of a high position in government by raising so many doubts about him that he had no further usefulness.

Who is the real target in the investigation of Billie Sol Estes, whose only political connection is as a contributor to Democratic campaigns? Surely not Mr. Estes, who apparently is nothing more sinister than a promoter in a state where even promotion picks up grandeur as it goes.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman is the best guess. And even he is only the incidental target. The real one is the Kennedy administration's agricultural program, as administered by Secretary Freeman and as it may have been exploited by others, perhaps including Mr. Estes.

This is the way it's done in politics. Everybody who remembers Mr. Adams, the vicuna coat, the hotel bills and the calls in behalf of old friends to federal agencies can look forward to a repetition of the familiar melodrama, in a new setting with a different cast.

The sweep and scope of the new production should make the Sherman Adams incident seem like penny-pinching. They do things so much bigger in Texas than they ever learned to do them in New Hampshire.

For the State Senate

Columbiana County voters will help nominate two state senators from the four-county 20th-22nd district when they go to the polls in Tuesday's primary.

The district also includes Jefferson, Harrison and Belmont counties.

The Democratic candidates—Arthur Blake of Martins Ferry and Edmund A. Sargus of St. Clairsville—both are incumbents.

Bidding for the Republican nomination are Allen J. Dalrymple of Wellsville, Atty. Donald W. Elliott of Rogers and Boyd Wallace of Cadiz.

Because the number of seats in the next term will be cut to one as the result of periodic reapportionment, each party will select a lone nominee on Tuesday.

Mr. Blake has experience in seeking his seventh term in the senate.

However, while Mr. Sargus, an attorney, has served only one term, during his time in the senate he has demonstrated an ability which promises an even better record in the future if permitted to continue in office.

In the last session of the legislature, the 104th General Assembly, he served on the judiciary and the commerce and labor committees.

He was named one of two outstanding freshmen senators of the year by his colleagues in the senate and the press.

The News recommends that he be nominated over Mr. Blake.

On the Republican ticket, both Mr. Elliott and Mr. Dalrymple appear to possess the qualifications which go with the post.

Mr. Elliott has practiced law for 25 years, being a graduate of the law school of Western Reserve University. He also is a former president of the Columbiana County Board of Education.

Mr. Dalrymple, a newcomer to politics, also is a member of the County Bar Association. He is a past president of the Wellsville Kiwanis Club and Wellsville Chamber of Commerce. He attended Mt. Union College and Ohio State University Law School. He is engaged in the automobile business.

Best Trick of Them All

The immediate protest of nonoperating rail employees against a 10.2 cent average wage increase recommended by a government board matches the steel industry's earlier protest against a government-recommended price cutback.

What will happen if someday the government suggested a wage cutback?

Even when a government board suggests a 10.2-cent increase, instead of the rail unions' proposition for a 25-cent increase, it is clobbered and castigated.

Yet in any realistic view of the prospect for government-administered prices and wages, adjustments in both directions are to be expected.

If the Kennedy administration, for example, were to decide that in any given industry of major importance no increase in the cost of production could be justified because it would be inflationary, it would have to say so. It might even have to propose a rollback of wage rates, which is what railroad management would welcome right now to shrink its ever-growing deficits.

By the same token, the Kennedy administration might have to recommend or give approval to a recommendation for a price increase to enable an industry to meet its obligations.

These are the so-far avoided implications of government-administered prices and wages.

They cannot be avoided forever.

Labor unions already have come to grips with the possibility that the government's position against an increase in the tonnage price of steel may be the forerunner of a position against an increase in steel wage rates next summer.

Their bargainers are wondering where they will find themselves in future negotiations with the management of other key industries. What will there be left for them to bargain for if all unionists know in advance of every negotiation what is allowable under government sanction?

The best trick of all under any system that puts government in over-all control of prices and wages is to arrive at and maintain a state of equity, in which all rules and regulations are applied without fear or favor.

In about four months home gardens should be far enough along to be neglected.

Watch out for the fellow who always pushes himself into the limelight; he may turn out to be a lemon.

Looks Like It's Gonna Be a Pitching Duel

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Next time a Chinese fortune cookie tells me confidentially that crime doesn't pay, I'm going to dispatch a protest telegram to the bakery.

I've been hunting haunting certain courts and grand juries here waiting for one special story to break. And I find that a number of men who made millions during their years as labor leaders are still drawing handsome albeit inflationary pensions from the unions they quit under fire.

There is Dave Beck, convicted of embezzlement, once the No. 1 wheel in the Teamsters. A check reveals he still is drawing a $50,000-a-year pension from that brotherhood. Just why he would not give that thousand a week to the poor is anybody's analysis.

In Chicago the other week, his former colleagues put his personal fortune at more than $16 million. And he has not been down in by the Seattle World's Fair, either. Not with traffic as it is—and his ing lot and gas station empire.

So well is Beck doing, he's now planning to expand into the suburban supermarket business.

THEN THERE'S ex-convict Joe Fay. He put in some nine years in Sing Sing after reluctantly leaving his barony known as Local 825, Operating Engineers, New York, N.Y.

Joe Fay, shook down many. But the officials of the local—for decades a power in the international union—just couldn't bear cutting themselves off from the man. So they've been paying him a $12,600 annual pension ever since January '56.

That operating engineers union is a generous body, indeed. When its old president, William Maloney, quit in a hurry, the union began paying him a $55,000-a-year pension for life—expenses, too.

This helps ease his idle hours in one of several big homes, or perhaps when he's stuck with travel time on his yacht.

But now along comes a union which was struck with an $1,100-a-month pension for one of its presidents who ran under fire. His was a comfortable retreat. He simply retired to his $50,000 home in Boca Raton.

The 50-year-old retiree is James Cross. The union involved in cleansing itself of his hangovers is the Bakery and Confectionery Workers, now led by a quiet, unassuming chap, Max Kralstein, president.

KRALSTEIN has guts. His story should be known. The union he now leads is a small one—65,000 members—in this day of giants. He is a baker and hasn't slugged his way up in the hurly burly of labor wars. The union he now leads was kicked out of the AFL-CIO along with the Teamsters back in 1957.

He gathered some men around him and took out after those such as Cross—Jim Hoffa's friend. The charge against the Bakery and Confectionery Union was corruption. Big sums had been misused. The reform band began to clean up. They did well and decided they'd ask for readmission to the AFL-CIO. Hoffa brought real pressure against the move. In Cleveland last January he personally appeared to their convention to come into the Teamsters.

In effect, they told him to go jump in Lake Erie. At that convention Kralstein won the presidency.

Immediately the reformers decided to clean up the union. They cut the hangers-on from the payroll. They cut their own salaries down to one-third. President Kralstein slashed his own salary from $30,000 to $20,000 (including expenses).

THEY FOUND that some $35,000 had been mysteriously taken from the treasury. Sequel: the Justice Department on March 23 indicted Peter H. Olson, the old secretary-treasurer, on charges of stealing $35,000 from the union and then embezzling another $17,300 in an attempt to make up the shortage.

As for the former president, Jim Cross, they cut off his $1,100 monthly pension despite the previous constitutional provisions.

When Cross went to court (unsuccessfully), the union's secretary-treasurer told the federal judge in an affidavit that Cross "is liable to the international union for at least $150,000 due to his waste, misappropriation, and mis-handling of union funds while he was international president."

This was part of a brief filed with Justice George L. Hart, Jr., U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia. The judge ruled against Cross.

Thus a small group of unionists prove a union can be cleaned up no matter who ran it before.

As for all the pensions listed in this column, just think what food, what lodging, what medical care and decent clothing could be bought for hundreds of jobs in such states as West Virginia with the cash now going to millionaire ex-unionists who ran under fire.

Avoiding the Issues

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Laws Needed To Prohibit Labor Monopolies

It's strange how often deep-seated issues are avoided or glossed over. The President appoints a Labor-Management Advisory committee. It is asked to study "free and responsible collective bargaining and industrial peace." The committee is composed of prominent citizens representing labor, management and the public.

A report, filed after months of study, makes a few worthwhile suggestions about amending the procedures leading to the use of the Taft-Hartley Act injunctions, but it does not recommend any way to get rid of the monopoly power that brings on major strikes.

Almost as bad as a strike itself is the threat of it. Today, the American people are paying the bill for the artificial speed-up of steel production in the last six months which grew out of the threat of a strike. Inventories were increased in anticipation of shortages. Workers who were hired in that period now have to be laid off. The threat, however, of another strike in steel, with a dislocation of production schedules, is due just a few months hence.

President Kennedy himself avoids this basic issue. He talks eloquently about the "public interest" and how the economy must be kept moving steadily.

He goes before the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and speaks of the things he has recommended for transportation and the appeals he has made for "non-inflationary" settlements in wage contracts but he has uttered not a word in explanation of the tactics of coercion he used against the steel industry to interfere with the setting of prices based on economic factors, though the president has no power under any law to fix prices.

Now Mr. Kennedy is represented as wondering why he got a chilly reception at the Chamber of Commerce meeting.

It will take a long time to undo the injury that has been done in recent weeks to the free-enterprise system by the administration. Confidence will not return on the basis of mere promises to treat labor and management alike in the future. The truth is that, if the President the next time adopts a course of intimidation with respect to a national labor union comparable to that which he employed against steel, he will be compounding his error.

THE REAL ISSUE that is being evaded is whether the economy of the United States shall continue to be operated under a formula by which federal laws restrain management but not labor unions.

The fundamental question today is monopoly power. The President's Labor-Management Advisory Committee did not come forward with a study on this question. It was, instead, postponed for future consideration. Both Henry Ford II, chairman of Ford Motor Co., and Joseph L. Block, head of Inland Steel Co., attached their views to the formal report filed with the President. Mr. Block said:

"The occurrence of national emergency disputes is, in my opinion, due in large part to the monopoly power which enables a single union—or combination of unions—to call a strike that brings to a halt all, or the preponderance, of the production in a vital industry. Surely, the possession of this power is not in the public interest. It should, therefore, be curbed by law, just as Congress has protected the public by enacting the antitrust laws to prevent business from having monopolistic powers. And, naturally, any such law should apply equally to management in respect to lock-outs as well as to unions in respect to strikes."

Mr. Ford said: "I do not believe that an increase in the activity, the influence and the power of the federal government in the actual processes of collective bargaining would be in the public interest."

Why aren't these basic issues tackled impartially? The American people are entitled to know. The answer is not difficult to ascertain.

It's the fact that labor unions, by reason of the millions of dollars contributed by their members to support the Democratic party, have achieved a veto both at the White House and in Congress against any legislation that would diminish the monopoly power of unions. How long can free government endure if one economic group has a monopoly also on political power?

THE FINGER of blame is constantly pointed at management. To emphasize this, many antitrust suits are capriciously started in an attempt to smear all business. The antitrust laws are vague and can be arbitrarily applied. A study of what has happened in this field for the last 30 years or more is sorely needed, so that new laws can be enacted which are in keeping with the expanding economy of the United States.

But as long as industrywide bargaining is not prohibited by law and a conspiracy to fix uniform wage costs in an industry by concerted action goes untouched by government, there is little chance for a free economy to operate. The end result could well be governmental regulation of industrial management, with no such regulation imposed on labor unions at all.

Neither side wants governmental regulation, but out of economic chaos such regulation inevitably comes. So, in order to save the free enterprise system, the need is for a law that will prohibit labor union monopolies. For today they fix wage costs among all competitors within an industry. National unions covering a whole industry are no more logical in a free-enterprise system than are national cartels of management or ownership.

Lookie--A Native!

By TRUMAN TWILL

My great good government is beseeching me again this summer to be nice to foreign tourists, and I promise to do my best, as I've promised before.

The trouble is I go for years without getting close to foreign tourists. They never drive up to my little haven of rest in Rosy Fingered Dawn, snap pictures of me and ask in broken English, "What you do, fellah, chop-chop?" They never walk past the bench where I man the oar assigned to Galley Slave 37 and give me a chance to show them my bruised and blistered hands and plead for baksheesh.

Not being in business I have no chance to clip the tourists for goods and services. Though I periodically salute them in print I honestly doubt if I ever have hit pay dirt.

I think the whole thing is something we talk about like stopping war and abolishing sin without really believing we are flapping our gums for any good purpose.

I cannot believe that the United States is going to be visited by tourists in the way that touring Americans visit every point on earth they can reach. It is my opinion that the only tourists we are going to see here will be those traveling on public money, plus a few who struck it rich by birth.

Touring is a middle class phenomenon, and the United States is the only country that ever developed a middle class rich enough to carry on in the style to which only the wealthy are accustomed in other lands.

"Middle class" in America ranges from lower middle through middle middle to upper middle. It comprises everybody who has a fighting chance to live it up on a trip abroad if he wants to do it—and that's tens of millions. Who doesn't know Americans who have traveled abroad, some of them to revisit the place of their humble birth?

This sort of thing is out of the question for foreigners who might like to come here. The best the United States can promise in its travel literature is a special cut rate of $98 a week for basic costs, and even that is too steep for a wage earner cutting the mustard on less than $40 a week back home.

It's too bad the thing isn't going to come off in my lifetime because I had worked up a picturesque act if a busload of rubbernecks ever pulled up at my place and the cameras began to click.

I was going to parade my entourage, consisting of all our dogs, cats and sheep, all of which follow me under the silly misapprehension that where I am there will be something to eat.

It would make a wonderful scene for the slicks and go over big when tourists invited the neighbors for an evening of color slides of wildest America taken during their safari.

Once Over

Flaming red cars for subway are the latest thing in subway transportation. Interiors feature white ceilings, gray seat, beige floors and light blue walls with medium-blue doors. (Color of riders will remain black and blue.)

Such cars are recommended by color psychologists as contributing to soothing and relaxed trips between given points.

They are in limited service now in New York and will be featured in transportation to Gotham World's Fair, making it somewhat more certain that visitors won't get on what they think is train to fair and wind up in Bronx.

For soothing subway rides I pray:
If dizzy colors help, okay.
This morn's trip was the kind I dread.
(The train was not the proper red.)

II
This noon my nerves were shattered, too:
It seems the panels were not blue;
My own composure took a fall . . .
(No beige floor in the train at all.)

III
A bright white ceiling met my eyes
(It somehow failed to tranquilize);
Gray seats I'll meet with proper glee—
If there is any room for me.

IV
But even then a seat of gray

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'll make it brief and to the point. I'm no child. I'm 34. Recently I married a man I'd known only a short time. I was shocked to find that he has the American flag tattooed on his chest. Also, the slogan "Down With Tojo."

He said it happened when he was stationed in Japan with the U.S. Air Force. He went out one night with a gang of fellows and they got rip-roaring drunk and had themselves decorated.

I consider tattoo work vulgar and cheap and I'd like to know if there is any way it can be removed. He says he'd be willing to have it taken off if I can get the information. Thank you. — PROVIDENCE.

Dear Providence: Tattoo "decorations" can be moved. Tell your husband to take Tojo and Old Glory to a dermatologist. There are several removal techniques and a skin specialist will decide which is best for him.

Family Outcast

Dear Ann: Three years ago I fell in love with a married man. He had three children, aged 1, 2 and 3. He left his wife and asked her for a divorce. Begrudgingly, she gave him one.

The court ordered my husband to pay $45 a week support money. His ex-wife's father is well-to-do and could take care of all her needs very nicely. But she insists on bleeding my husband for every dime she can get even though she knows we are having a tough time making ends meet.

He lives in their lovely home, drives a new car (which her father bought) and if my husband misses one week's check, her lawyer is on the telephone.

I've written to her to lay off but she ignores my letters. My in-laws do not speak to me and they have asked my husband not to bring me to their home. They have never seen our son and have told him they don't consider this child any relative of theirs.

I'm an outcast in this family. Is this fair? My only sin was falling madly in love with a married man. But women do it every day and people forgive and forget. What can I do to get myself and my child accepted by my husband's family?—OUTCAST.

Dear Outcast: You're fighting a losing battle. You might as well try bailing out Lake Michigan with a teaspoon.

A woman who breaks up a marriage, and deprives three small children of a father as you did, should not be surprised when she gets the icicle treatment from her husband's family.

And why are you so resentful about the support money? The children's father, not their grandfather, should bear the financial responsibility.

I have neither advice nor sympathy for you.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Harmony Between Business, Government Urged by Blough

HOBOKEN, N.J. (AP) — Roger M. Blough urged harmony today between business and government as the only setting for maximum progress by the economy and the nation.

But Blough, chairman of U.S. Steel Corp., the industry's largest producer, dismissed out of hand any suggestion that even indirect setting of prices by government "can ever serve the national interest in peacetime."

He called such an idea incomprehensible.

In a report prepared for stockholders at U.S. Steel's annual meeting, Blough defended the firm's recent price increase; said the action should not have surprised anyone, and made no commitment on future pricing moves—a decision he said should be shaped by market-place forces.

He differed from President Kennedy's yardstick on non-inflationary wage settlements, holding they don't merit that label if employment costs are increased.

Blough, who clashed head-on with the President last month when U.S. Steel posted—then withdrew—higher prices, told shareholders: "I do not believe that the public interest can ever be served by hostility between government and business."

He said he was encouraged by the President's recent speech to the United States Chamber of Commerce, an address coolly received by the audience of businessmen.

Blough called for great understanding of how corporate profits have lagged behind other segments of the economy since 1950, and the extent to which the lag is "weakening our industrial potential."

In this period, he said, they rose only from $22.8 billion to $23.3 billion last year—"or virtually not at all."

By contrast, the nation's wage and job benefits rose from $154 to $303 billion, business taxes jumped from $42 billion to $70 billion and income of the merchant-farmer-landlord segment from $47 billion to $80 billion, blough continued.

"This depressed state of corporate profits certainly accounts in part for the fact that some $90 billions worth of America's industrial plant and equipment is obsolete today," he said.

Freeman Faces Press Questions On Estes Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman holds a news conference today and topic No. 1 will be the Billie Sol Estes case.

Estes is a West Texas financier who rose to head, at 37, a multi-million-dollar business empire. He was indicted last month by a federal grand jury for fraud in connection with chattel mortgages he was charged with selling on nonexistent fertilizer tanks.

The indictment focused further inquiry into Estes' activities, particularly his dealings under Agriculture Department programs for cotton acreage allotments and for storage of government-owned surplus grain in Estes-owned elevators.

Accusations have been made that Estes received favored treatment in return for alleged gifts of clothing to some department officials.

The department said there has been no evidence that Estes received any favors.

Republican leaders in Congress have called for a full-scale investigation of Estes' relationship with the department. Freeman has called this a GOP attempt to hurt administration efforts to get new farm legislation.

The Estes case has brought the resignation of Emery E. Jacobs, deputy administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, and the discharge of William Morris, an assistant to former Assistant Secretary James T. Ralph. Their names were mentioned in testimony about Estes' clothing gifts.

Ralph's name also came up in the testimony. He has denied receiving any gifts from Estes.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. H. T. HYMAN

Eye Care Vital to Children

Sometimes children do poorly in school because of an unrecognized visual defect.

It is vitally important to give our youngsters a full opportunity to develop to the limits of their capacities. Hence, here are some pointers about eyes and eye care that may prove helpful to you and your children:

Particularly during the first three months of pregnancy, protect yourself from exposure to X-rays and to infectious diseases. While emphasis has been placed on the harmful effects of German measles on the developing child (embryo), other infections also may produce serious damage.

Among these are regular measles (rubella) virus influenza and perhaps mumps. You may obtain protective immunization with measles, mumps and virus influenza vaccines. But, you can only protect yourself against German measles (roseola) by recovery from an attack before pregnancy.

When you first look at your baby's eyes, don't be upset if they appear red and gummy. The law requires that they be protected by instillation of eye drops immediately after birth, and some eye drops may irritate.

Don't object to the extra expense involved for consultation with an eye specialist (ophthalmologist) or a pediatricist if your child is premature and requires oxygen. For, too little oxygen may cost your child his best chance for complete recovery. Too much oxygen may cause total blindness (retrolental fibroplasia).

Don't worry if your baby's eyes turn a bit in (cross-eyes) or out (wall-eyes) for the first six months or so. It takes a bit of time for the 12 eye muscles (six in each set) to get working in harmony. If, however, they continue to be out of whack after six months, don't delay your visit to an ophthalmologist.

Especially if your child has been given oxygen, test his visual response to a stimulus such as the blinking of a flashlight or the sight of the bottle. If you're not completely sure of the response, seek consultation at a time when treatment holds greatest promise.

IF YOUR SCHOOL-AGE child complains of headache or difficulty in seeing the blackboard or in reading; if he has to practically put his nose on the book he's studying; if he stumbles in the dark or reacts unfavorably to bright light, whether artificial or from sun; or if his eyes are red, crusty or teary, better have him tested and, if necessary, supply him with corrective glasses according to prescription.

Don't have it on your conscience that a child of yours got off to a bad educational start because you were negligent. Or because you practiced what you thought was economy.

WAS IT YOU?

That's what SMOKEY wants to know! Was it YOU who threw the cigarette from your car or dropped your match after lighting up?

Every year careless smokers are responsible for one of every five man-caused forest fires!

When your trash fire spreads out of control, you know you've done wrong! But smokers start fires and never know it! They're gone before the fire starts!

You see, a cigar or cigarette butt is like a time bomb. It smolders for a while before the leaves or needles where it lies are warmed enough to flame. A playful breeze may help it along. Then, in no time at all, a spark you could crush under your heel has grown to be a searing, roaring demon, killing the life in its path!

Did you start a forest fire last year? Was it you?

Remember—only YOU can PREVENT FOREST FIRES!

Election

same race, Ohio House Majority Leader Robert Taft Jr. of Cincinnati seems an almost sure winner over State Sen. Thomas Lowell Fess of Yellow Springs. Both are sons of former Republican U. S. senators.

In the other statewide races: Lieutenant governor:

Democratic — Former House Speaker James A. Lantz of Lancaster, DiSalle's candidate, can win the nomination unless John J. Gallagher of Cleveland piles up too big a lead in populous Cuyahoga County.

Republican — State Sen. John W. Brown of Medina, former two-term Republican lieutenant governor, seeks the GOP nomination to return to his old post. He has five opponents including state Sens. Charles W. Whalen Jr. of Dayton who has campaigned hard.

Attorney general: Democratic — This five-man race seems to be between Lakewood Mayor Frank P. Celeste, DiSalle's favorite, and Robert E. Sweeney of Bay Village, who has a good name to attract Democratic votes.

Republican — In a three-man race, former Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe, who went down the political drain in the ill-starred drive for the so-called right-to-work amendment in 1958, is trying to get his old job back. His principal rival is John A. Lloyd Jr. of Cincinnati. Saxbe is favored.

Auditor: Democratic — Lt. Gov. John W. Donahey is opposed for the Democratic nomination.

Republican — Auditor Rhodes, the likely GOP nominee for governor, is angling to get Richard M. Brown of Chagrin Falls on the November ticket as the nominee for auditor. But former State Treasurer Roger W. Tracy, another Republican who lost out in the 1958 right-to-work battle, appears to be the man to beat.

Secretary of state: Democratic — DiSalle personally supports Mrs. Catherine R. Dobbs, former Barberton mayor, but most observers believe former Canton Mayor Charles L. Babcock and Joseph H. Avelone, former Cleveland legislator, will make it an interesting three-way race in a five-candidate field.

Republican — Republican Ted W. Brown of Springfield native, but

Treasurer: Democratic — Thomas E. Fergu-

Due to his long hair too many people were calling him 'her.' It looked pretty stormy until resourceful dad popped the bottle in Ray's mouth, and clipped the rebellion.

son of Columbus, son of present Treasurer Joseph T. Ferguson, is unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

Republican — The contest in a five-man field appears to be between John D. Herbert of suburban Upper Arlington, son of retiring Supreme Court Justice Thomas J. Herbert, and Russell, Dumfries, Warren County treasurer since 1953.

Chief justice: Democratic — Chief Justice Carl V. Weygant of Lakewood, who has held that post since 1933, is unopposed for nomination.

Republican — Supreme Court Judge Kingsley A. Taft, formerly of Cleveland but now of Columbus, who has been on the high court since 1948, is the first sitting judge to challenge a sitting chief justice for the state's highest judicial post. Taft is unopposed for the nomination.

Supreme Court (Jan. 1 term) Democratic — James J. Mayer of Mansfield is unopposed.

Republican — Judge John M. Matthias of Columbus, a member of the high court since 1954 when he was elected to complete the unexpired term of his father, Supreme Court (Jan. 2 term) Democratic — Richard T. Cole of Springfield and John F. McCrystal of Sandusky are seeking the Democratic nomination to succeed Judge Thomas J. Herbert, a Republican retiring for health reasons.

Republican — Two Republicans seek to succeed Judge Herbert. They are Paul M. Herbert of Columbus, no kin, who served five two-year terms as lieutenant governor, and Willard D. Campbell of Columbus, a former Guernsey County Common Pleas Court judge and a former national commander of the Loyal Order of Moose.

Key Deep South Test Looms For Kennedy Administration

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—An announcement by supermarket owner John G. Schwegmann Jr. that he will oppose Rep. Hale Boggs for renomination loomed today as a key Deep South test for the Kennedy administration.

Schwegman, 50, announced for the July 28 Democratic primary in Louisiana's 2nd District against Boggs just one day after New Orleans gave President Kennedy a warm welcome here Friday.

Boggs is the House Democratic whip and the administration's most loyal supporter in the Louisiana congressional delegation. Schwegmann assailed Boggs as a rubber stamp for the administration and asserted that if a change is not made from "such men as Mr. Boggs and long-haired Harvard advisors, our country will be bankrupt."

Schwegmann's candidacy will provide a rallying point for segregationists and Kennedy administration opponents. Although a political neophyte, Schwegmann is well-known in the area because of his four vast supermarkets. He made his first political race a success last year when he was elected state representative in a special election in Jefferson Parish (county), which includes most New Orleans suburbs.

Schwegmann is the second candidate to enter the race against Boggs. Stuart A. McClendon, 26, an attorney, announced his candidacy last November and has been campaigning with the support of the Conservative Political Association.

Boggs, 49 and a veteran of 20 years in Congress, has been under fire from the right here since his vote in February 1961 to increase the size of the House Rules Committee. The move was made to break the hold of a conservative coalition on the committee, and Boggs' vote was seen as anti-South.

This And That

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

With most federal prisoners it's a matter of "out again, in again. Within five years after their release, 65 per cent are back behind bars.

Girls, if you want to go where the boys are, go to college. Enrollment of boys outnumbers girls in the ratio of 13-10. The big reason: most parents still think a sheepskin is more important to a son than to a daughter.

Did you know you spend about 45 per cent of your waking time listening?

Another 25 per cent is spent in talking, reading and writing.

Odd regulations: In Sweden youngsters under 18 must have a letter from the king in order to get married. West German police must carry knives equipped with corkscrews. An Oregon law once banned motorists from driving with their shoes off.

Latest news from the farm: cows that lounge on foam rubber mattresses gave more milk than those that are bedded on straw.

Our quotable notables: "I have suffered from being misunderstood, but I would have suffered a hell of a lot more if I had been understood." — Clarence Darrow.

Paging Horatio Alger: Starting at the bottom of the ladder has its penalties. Some studies show that lads who had to struggle all the way up to top managerial positions wind up in poorer health than those who stepped from college into a fairly good post.

How they got started: Yul Brynner was a trapeze performer. Dick Clark first aspired to be a banker. Bandleader Xavier Cugat was a newspaper cartoonist.

Money talk: During the middle ages India used fish hooks as currency. All the world's stock of mined gold could be put into a room 30 feet high and 30 feet square.

Nature notes: A waving green flag will annoy a bull just as much as a red one. A cricket an inch long can make a chirp loud enough to be heard a mile away. You can hold a queen bee in your hand in perfect safety—all she will sting is another queen bee.

It was Miguel de Cervantes who observed, "Everyone is as God has made him, and often a great deal worse."

ACTOR IN A NEW ROLE—Veteran actor William Gargan, victim of larynx cancer which cost him his natural voice, helps others similarly afflicted at the National Hospital for Speech Disorders in New York City May 2. Gargan, who makes himself understood after medical rehabilitators taught him to vibrate his esophagus by swallowing air, now helps others to learn the same method despite the removal of the larynx, or voice box. He says he hopes to continue in the theater as a producer or director.

Be Financially Reliant And Keep Roof Over Your Head

Women generally outlive their husbands, says Nancy B. Staub, trust officer of a New Jersey bank, and they should learn how to be financially reliant.

"You must realize," the woman banker adds, "that the roof over your head isn't permanent unless some provision has been made to take care of the mortgage in the event of his death."

There are a number of ways to do this, Mrs. Staub says. "Term insurance is one. A plan that reduces with the mortgage is the most popular. Under this plan the largest part of the payments are made during the years when the husband's income can meet the payments. If he doesn't live out the insurance term, the mortgage is paid off when he dies."

One out of every two women who become widows can expect to live 20 or more years, Mrs. Staub says, and she strongly urges all women to have basic business education.

"If they don't use it in actual business later," she points out, "they can use it in everyday life—just doing budgets at home or learning how to make good use of surplus cash."

It's a great mistake for a husband to keep his wife in ignorance of his finances, Mrs. Staub says, and she offers the following suggestions to wives:

1. If you've had no previous business experience, learn how your husband handles family budget matters. Keep the family checking account. Ask your husband to point out how he takes care of these matters.

2. Learn a job you can fall back on. There is great security in knowing you can make your own way. A job can keep your mind active, too, during trying days after a loss.

3. Get to know the people who take care of your family's finances—insurance men, stockbrokers, lawyers, and the trust officer of your husband's bank.

4. Be sure your husband's will is up to date. Changes in the estate, the family group, and tax and other laws make it important.

5. Put extra money for emergencies in a separate savings or checking account at your local bank.

6. Pressure your husband to put down in writing what to do in a crisis just in case you need to know some day.

Spray Program Needed to Control Japanese Beetles

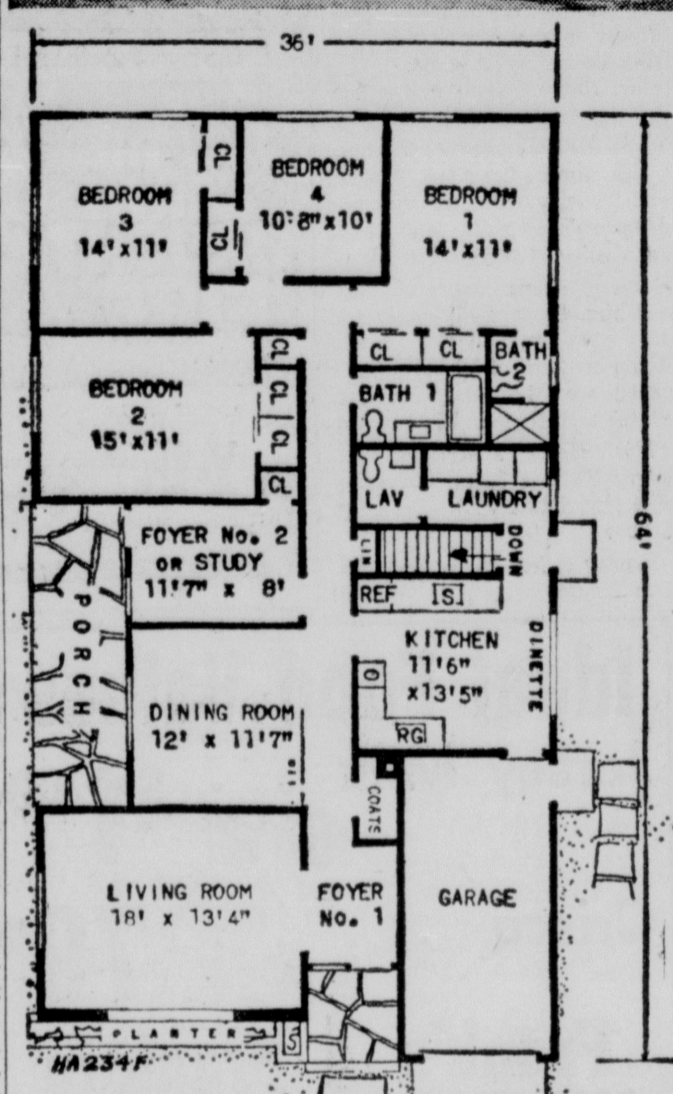

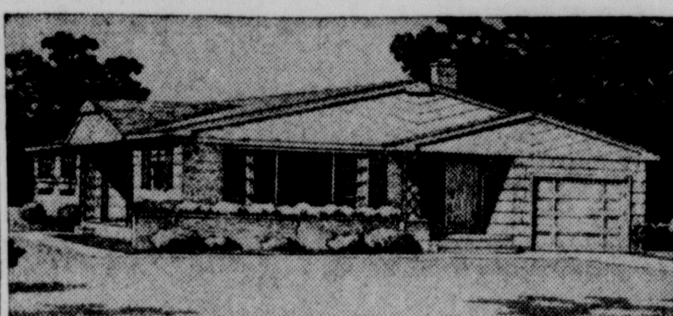

Trapping Japanese beetles has become a popular practice in Ohio. And it is a practical step, if you want to find out how many beetles are present in your area.

But if you are interested in control, traps alone will not do the job. Research at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station shows that traps can't be expected to cut down beetle populations. You will still need a spray program, if the population is high.

Research entomologist J. B. Polivka reports that trapping is a good practice to tell whether the population is high enough to warrant spraying, but that traps alone will not reduce populations. Best bet for control and eliminating damage will be an application of an insecticide for both adults and grubs.

If you plan to trap this spring to determine whether a spray program is needed, locate each trap where it will be in the sun as many hours as possible. Hang the trap on a standard so that the funnel is three to four feet above the ground. Place the trap from 10 to 20 feet away from the host plant and use the recommended liquid bait. This will be geraniol and eugenol chemicals which are available at drug stores. These need to be mixed at ratios of 10 parts by volume of geraniol to one part of eugenol.

In the experiment station tests, traps caught from 1.6 percent to 17.5 percent of the adult beetles present between May and October in the test area. Average catch was just less than five percent. Still, the trapping program failed to reduce the next generation of grubs.

FITS NARROW LOT—This fine ranch home has a special feature—it will fit a lot as narrow as 50 feet and still give you four bedrooms, two baths and an attached garage. If you have a wider lot, you can turn the house so its long side faces front. There is an alternate foyer and big windows will face the street either way the house is placed. The home has 1,820 square feet and architect for plan HA234F is Alan Wood Fraser, Room 75, 117 W. 48th St., New York 26, N. Y.

Government Aid Sought For Middle-Income Housing

The movement of families in and out of big cities in the United States has gone through a number of cycles. For the most part, these migrations have been one way or the other at a particular time. Today, however, there is a cross-current of shifting populations, caused mainly by the twin factors of distance and economics.

As more and more families moved to the suburbs, within reasonable commuting distance of their city jobs, housing in those sections became more and more scarce. This forced middle-income families to move farther out in order to obtain adequate living quarters within their means. Metropolitan areas of big cities once were considered anything within a radius of 15 to 20 miles. This increased to 25 and 30 miles and kept on increasing until now the metropolitan areas of many large cities extend to 50 miles.

Many families, especially those whose children had married and set out on their own, began to move back toward and into the cities, mostly to apartments. This might have had a settling effect on suburbia's population problems except for one thing: luxury apartments were easy to locate, middle-income apartments were not.

Some large cities already have taken steps to correct the situation, although most efforts are still in the planning stage. One of those leading the fight for more middle-income housing is Louis Sacher, who has appeared before many federal housing agencies and Congressional committees on this subject and who formerly was economic adviser on housing to New York's Mayor Robert Wagner. It is Sacher's contention that federal and local government assistance is necessary to bridge the gap in the construction of middle-income housing which builders can not cross by themselves.

"Builders and other professional investors," says Sacher, "will not put their money in middle-income housing, or any other type of construction for that matter, where the rents would bring less than a reasonable return on their investment."

Here's the Answer

QUESTION: There is an old abandoned well on our property which we would like to fill, since we have read about accidents in which people have fallen into such wells. Can you tell us how to fill it?

ANSWER: Abandoned wells, drilled or dug, should be filled in with clean subsoil and topped with clay. The earth should be well tamped. Drilled wells should be sealed with a metal cover welded to the steel casing. Old wells lined with glazed tile should be capped with a concrete slab extending approximately three feet beyond the sides of the well. In areas where there is limestone or sandstone, certain extra measures must be taken. A well digger or other authority should be consulted for such individual conditions.

QUESTION: We have a table that has been in our family for many years. It had a varnish finish, which was getting rather seedy looking and which I covered with paint about three or four years ago.

I have never been satisfied with the paint job and now am thinking about redoing the table, this time using lacquer. Can you tell me how to go about this job?

ANSWER: The first thing you will have to do is get down to the bare wood. This means using a paint-varnish remover, carefully following the instructions on the container label. Because it has both paint and varnish on it, the wood may have to be gone over two or three times with the remover in order to get a satisfactory job. Be especially careful about following the directions on how to clean the wood after you are finished with the remover.

Mix clear lacquer with an equal amount of lacquer thinner. Since lacquer dries very quickly, you must do the lacquering job rapidly without interruption.

Do not go over and area a second time. When the first coat has dried, sand it very, very lightly with a fine grade of sandpaper. Brush off all traces of grit and apply a second coat. Repeat the sanding process and apply a third coat, which should be sufficient.

However, a fourth and fifth coat may be put on if desired. With lacquer, as with almost any finishing material, several light coats are better than one or two thick coats.

QUESTION: About three years ago a friend of mine who was moving to an apartment gave me an electric floor sander. I have never used it, but intend to refinish a wooden floor soon. In testing the machine, I notice that it doesn't sand right up to the baseboards. Does that part of the floor have to be sanded by hand?

ANSWER: No. You should rent a small electric floor sander usually called an edger. The base of it is designed so that it can be used close up to the walls in areas where the large sander does not reach.

QUESTION: Because of its modern effect, I like vertical lines in exterior house siding. How can I achieve these lines so that the correct?

ANSWER: There are several methods. You can have wood battens at intervals of eight or 16 inches against a panel siding. You can also use hardboard panels with pre-molded, rounded ribs spaced at eight-inch intervals. This produces a wall with a refined appearance which provides interesting highlights and shadows. You can also get a V-grooved siding that gives strong vertical lines at intervals of five and one-third inches. Both types are four feet wide and have shiplap edges to provide a continuous pattern and tight joints. Another popular style is a hardboard siding with half-inch-wide grooves at four-inch intervals.

M & M Romp As Yanks, Senators Split

Indians, Twins Cop Single Tilts

Los Angeles Posts Win Over Orioles

By BOB GREEN Associated Press Sports Writer

It was (ho-hum) business at the same old stand for baseball's most prolific one-two punch.

New York's Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris, the Yankees' famed M and M boys, put on their most awesome power display of the season Sunday as the American League leaders split a double header with Washington.

They hit back-to-back home runs in the first inning of the second game and finished the long afternoon with a total of seven hits, six runs, two doubles, four home runs, seven runs batted in and 21 total bases. Maris also chipped in with a fantastic, leaping catch that robbed the Senators' Ken Retzer of a homer in the first game.

Senators Cop First Game It wasn't enough to make it a sweep, however, as the Senators came up with a three-run burst in the eighth inning of the opener and won it 4-2. The Yanks romped 8-0 in the nightcap.

The split cut the Yanks' lead to 1 1/2 games over Cleveland and Minnesota, winners of single games. Cleveland beat Kansas City 5-1 and Bernie Allen's ninth-inning homer brought Minnesota a 10-7 victory over Detroit. Chicago and Boston split, the Red Sox winning the first 3-2, the White Sox the second 5-3. Los Angeles bombed Baltimore 15-7. Angeles at Pittsburgh was postponed.

A three-run rally in the eighth, featuring Gene Woodling's pinch hit homer, Jimmy Piersall's double, an error and two sacrifices, allowed Washington's Dave Stenhouse to win his first big league start in the opener. Nookie Jim Bouton shut out the Senators on seven hits in the second.

Mudcat Blanks Kansas City Jim (Mudcat) Grant, on a week-end pass from the Army, shut out Kansas City on three hits for six innings, before giving way to Sam McDowell and Bob Allen. A three-run homer by Willie Kirkland was the key blow as the Indians handed Norm Bass his fourth straight loss.

Allen, a Minnesota rookie bonus boy from Purdue, slammed a three-run homer into the rightfield bleachers with one out in the bottom of the ninth as Detroit lost its fifth straight.

Chicago veteran Turk Lown struck out three men in a row, chopped off a three-run Boston rally in the ninth, and preserved the White Sox' nightcap victory. The Red Sox had the potential tying run on first with none out when Lown, the fourth Chicago pitcher of the inning, came on to put out the fire and save it for rookie Joel Horlen.

Geiger Gets First Hit Gary Geiger's first hit of the season off a left-hander drove in the Red Sox winning run in the first game and pinned the loss on Juan Pizarro.

Los Angeles banged out 19 hits off six Baltimore pitchers in their fourth straight victory. Angel hitting heroes included Lee Thomas with four singles, a double and four RBI and Bob Rodgers with two doubles and two singles and three RBI. Brooks Robinson had a grand slam homer for the losers.

'He Ain't Much to Look at, But He's Ours'

Cards, Reds Split Twin-Bill

Mays Smacks Two As Giants Blast Cubs 7-3

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer Willie Mays, the bubbling "Say Hey Kid" of yesteryear, is a frisky 31-year-old, leading the major leagues with 10 home runs. Mays celebrated — and celebrated is the word for it — his birthday Sunday in Chicago with three hits, including a two-run homer, in San Francisco's 7-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Until Willie got hot, critics were comparing him unfavorably with the Giants' "Baby Bull," Orlando Cepeda. On the night of April 27, Mays was hitting a sick .211. In a rollicking 10-game streak, Willie hammered out 17 hits in 37 trips, hit six homers and drove in 16 runs while traveling at a 451 pace. His average now is a respectable .309.

Sunday was sort of an impromptu oldtimers' day in the National League, a day for the old folks to show the youngsters a thing or two.

Stan Musial, 41, heading down the stretch in his fabulous career, hit a three-run homer that gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 3-0 verdict over Cincinnati after the Reds had beaten them in the opener 5-4. Musial hit his homer in his 2,787th game, a league record.

Warren Spahn, another 41-year-old youngster, boosted his amazing winning total to 312 games by pitching Milwaukee to a 3-2 victory over Houston in the first game. Dick Farrell, relief man turned starter, evened matters for Houston by going the route for a 9-1 decision in the second game.

Gil Hodges, 38, another member of the old folks brigade, came through with a single with the bases loaded in the 12th inning for a 7-5 New York Mets' victory at Philadelphia. A scheduled second game was postponed because of the Sunday curfew which prohibits starting a game in Pennsylvania after 6:40.

After playing an inning at Pittsburgh, the Los Angeles Dodgers and Pirates had to call off their game because of rain. Mays started Billy O'Dell on the way to his fourth straight victory with a two-run homer off loser Bob Buhl in the first.

Musial boosted his average to .375 while increasing his career total to 3,425 hits, only five short of Honus Wagner's league record. Hit No. 3,425 was the three-run homer that broke up a 0-0 battle between Bob Gibson of the Cards and Moe Drabowsky of the Reds. Cincinnati's victory margin in the opener came on a wild pitch by relief man Don Ferrarese.

Spahn gave up eight hits while balancing his season record at 3-3 by beating Jim Golden. Del Crandall, Spahn's old battery mate, won the game with a homer in the fourth. Farrell pitched his first complete game in seven seasons in the majors and struck out 11 while throwing a four-hitter at the Braves in the second game.

Hodges' two-run single broke a five-game Phillie winning streak and ended a four-game losing string by the Mets. Although Hodges' hit came off Art Mahafey, the defeat was charged to Jack Baldschun who had loaded the bases on two walks and a single. Craig Anderson was the winner.

Palmer Wins In Champs Match

Birdies 18th Hole To Claim Victory

By BOB MYERS Associated Press Sports Writer LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Arnold Palmer still owns the patent on dramatic winning finishes along the golf tournament trail.

The popular belter from Latrobe, Pa., pointed toward the Colonial National Invitation at Fort Worth, Tex., next weekend after hauling in the $11,000 winner's purse in the $50,000 Tournament of Champions.

Palmer, 3-time Masters and former National open king, did it with rounds of 69-70-69-68-276. The knockout punch came with Palmer's suddenness on the final hole Sunday. He holed a 24-foot putt for a birdie three that broke a dead-heat duel with his close friend, Billy Casper Jr.

Casper, playing out of Apple Valley, Calif., got his par and matching 68 but he had to settle for a 72-hole score of 277 and $5,800.

Casper had a 33-35 for the par 36-36-72 Desert Inn Country Club course. He batted six birdies and after the 11th hole of the final round was actually in front by two strokes.

But Palmer knocked out six birdies and sank a 35-foot chip shot for an eagle three on the fifth and couldn't be contained.

It was Palmer's fifth tournament win of the year and his first in seven attempts to bag this desert classic. He has won $52,308 this year.

FRANK FITCH, Salem's record-holder in the pole vault and high jump, failed to place in either event Saturday. He got off a good broad jump of 8-10 1/2 but fouled in the attempt.

The pole vault went to Foriska of Youngstown Wilson at 9-9 and the broad jump was captured by Belichick of Struthers at 19-2.

The East Palestine squad placed eighth in the meet with 10 points.

Columbiana Emerges Class A Victor In Cambridge Relays

Led by Jim Ward's four firsts, the Columbiana Clippers amassed 77½ points to cop the Class A division of the Cambridge Relays Saturday. Cadiz was the only other of the eight A teams in the running, ending the meet with 71½ points. The host school won the Class AA title.

The highly versatile Ward placed in both the 100 and 220-yard dashes and then took to the air to win the broad jump. He coped the century with a time of 10-5 and sprinted the 220 in 23.5. Winning distance in the broad jump was 19-10.

Coach Waldo Ward's Clips placed first in five other events. Dale Murphy, an all-around athlete, claimed both the shot put and the discus with distances of 49-11 and three-quarters and 144-10, respectively, and teammate Fred Gosney cleared the bar at 5-8 to claim the high jump.

Ward was anchor man in the 880 relay squad to post his fourth first. Also on the squad was Paul Garrod, Fred Gosney and Murphy. The four speedsters won with a time of 35.3.

Columbiana's other first was also in a team event—the hurdle relay. Ed Miller, Dave Bailey, John Lindsay and Murphy finished the event in 1:05.0.

Derby Track Draws Criticism

Losers Claim Turf Hard As Concrete

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Decidedly, surprise winner of the Kentucky Derby in record time, led the exit from Churchill Downs today amid controversy, almost bitter at times, over the hardness of the track.

Decidedly skimmed over the Downs racing strip Saturday in 2:00 2-5 for 1 1/4 miles, clipping a full second off Whirlaway's standard of 2:01 2-5 that had stood since 1941. Decidedly finished 2 1/4 lengths in front of another surprise, Roman Line, who beat

SALEM HAD INTEREST

Salem fans had an interest in Crimson Satan in the Derby Saturday. The two-year-old champion, winner of the Garden State Stakes, is owned by Peter Salmen, Sr., who formerly lived here and worked at Mullins. Crimson Satan was bumped at the start of Saturday's race but came on strong to finish sixth in a field of 15.

by a neck in a photo finish.

Leroy Jolley, trainer of the beaten favorite, Ridan, and his father, Moody Jolley, were the most outspoken.

"It was like running over a concrete highway," said Moody, who also is a trainer. "At least five horses broke the record. You can't tell me there were five horses in that race better than Whirlaway."

Trainer Ron McAnally, whose Donut King was kept out of the race with a slight ankle injury, said he was glad his horse wasn't in the race.

"It was the hardest track I ever had seen, including the ones in California," he said.

Tom Kelly, apparently none too pleased by the ride given Sunrise County by Willie Shoemaker, took the other side of the controversy.

"The track was O.K. for me," he said. "We came to run on a fast track and we got it." Sunrise County wound up fifth after setting a burning pace of 1:10 1/5 through the first furlongs.

"No horse can go a mile and a quarter after traveling the first quarter in 22 and some change," said Kelly. "He has got to come back." Without saying so, he made it plain that he thought Shoemaker should have held Sunrise County off the fast early pace.

Wathen Knebelkamp, president of Churchill Downs, declared no special effort was made for the hard track.

"We do not believe in records," said Knebelkamp. "We just want a safe track."

There was no gripe from Horatio Luro, the dashing Argentine who had decidedly at his peak for the big race. He wasn't even around for the post mortems, leaving for Lexington, Ky., shortly after accepting congratulations.

"Bill (Hartack) followed my instructions to a letter," said Luro via the telephone. "I showed him pictures of how Carry Back came from far back last year and told him over the last 20 years the last quarter-mile of the Derby had been run in around 25 seconds."

Luro said he figured Decidedly could run the last quarter in around 24 seconds. He caught his colt in 24 1/5 seconds as Decidedly moved up from fifth place at the mile, took over third one-eighth of a mile from the finish and then pulled away in the final sixteenth.

When Whirlaway established the old mark he was caught in 23 3/5 seconds for the last quarter. He also was trailing the leaders at that point but went on to score by eight lengths.

Hunt Club Rifle Teams To Meet

Salem Hunting Club junior rifle teams will begin meeting each Wednesday beginning this week at 6 p.m. at the hunting club grounds.

Beginning Saturday at 2 p.m., another in the series of hunter-safety courses will be offered. Boys and girls 10 years of age and older may enroll. Parents must accompany them to the first meeting.

Instructors for the junior rifle teams and hunter safety classes will be Dave Kirby, Dutch Miles, Bill Michaels and Lester Marshall.

A certain sporting goods store on S. Broadway, which shall be nameless, has been advertising all the golf tees you can grab in one hand for 99c. Now, we admit that most golfers are getting about 125 to 180 tees, which is a great deal; but while you are in the store, the sneaky clerks start to talk about "Les Strokes" and "Gold Cup" golf balls costing only $9.95 a dozen and before you know it, ten bucks is shot.

Texas Dems' Runoff Poses Feud Threat

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The bruising all-out gubernatorial runoff race that looms between former Navy secretary John Connally and youthful Houston attorney Don Yarborough threatens to renew an old conservative-liberal feud among Texas Democrats.

The result could delight Republicans and dismay Democratic leaders who have had a hard time patching up differences among factions of their party.

Connally, who piled up an impressive lead in Saturday's six-man race for the Democratic nomination, appears confident he will clobber his runoff foe June 2.

Republicans can't influence the result, but they could hope that Yarborough, who is tagged a liberal, might defeat Connally, who bears a conservative label.

This would give their candidate, Breckenridge oil man Jack Cox, better running ground to campaign as a conservative for the November general election.

Many Texas Republicans have been thinking this might be the year they could get a real start on establishing a two-party system. They held their first primary since 1930 last Saturday.

While they polled less than 100,000 votes of the 1.3 million tabulated, this in itself was not discouraging. They could look also on the more than 100,000 Democratic votes for former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, a John Birch Society member, and hope they might pick up a substantial number of these in November.

Gov. Price Daniel, seeking his fourth term, finished third in Saturday's primary, followed by Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, former State Highway Commission Chairman Marshall Formby and Walker.

Returns from 253 of 254 counties, 164 complete, gave Connally 391,750 votes, Yarborough 287,388, Daniel 228,385, Wilson 156,698, Formby 130,709 and Walker 125,712.

Cox, a former Democrat, led Roy Whittenburg, Amarillo cattleman and publisher, 87,911 to 14,194.

American Legion and the Leetonia-Washingtonville Athletic Booster Club, co-sponsors.

Richard Gregory has been named general chairman and will also be in charge of the concessions. Jim Young has charge of ticket sales with Dan Cullinan as treasurer. Tom Blackwood and Jim Stewart will handle publicity.

A feature the first day of the Homecoming will be the Firemen's Parade when units from fire departments from all over the area will compete for 11 trophies.

The main event Thursday evening will be a concert by the Leetonia High School Band.

Other events include a competition in bicycle decorations, with trophies to be awarded to both boys and girls; a pet parade and a commercial fireworks display. Other contests include a bread-baking contest, a cake-baking contest, a quilt display and needlework competition.

MR. AND MRS. FRANK GOTTI left Saturday for Phoenix, Ariz., where Mrs. Gotti will participate in the Woman's National Bowling Tournament.

Before returning home the Gottis plan to visit her sisters, Mrs. Adeline Hutzler in Lancaster City, Calif., and Mrs. Viola Crew in Los Angeles. They also plan to visit Mr. Gotti's sister in El Paso, Texas.

Mrs. Louis Newton has entered Salem City Hospital for surgery. Mr. and Mrs. Merle Davis and daughter, Cinda, and Mrs. L. E. Fisher attended a concert at Sevens Hall in Cleveland Sunday when Miss Miriam Davis appeared with the Baldwin - Wallace Band.

2nd Session of Congress Moving At Snail's Pace

WASHINGTON (AP) — Statistically at least, the second session of the 87th Congress is moving at a snail's pace. This week's program in the Senate and the House indicates little concern about the situation.

Congressional leaders apparently have given up hope for an early election-year adjournment and some of them are reconciled to a late summer or fall session following a midsummer vacation.

A handful of relatively non-controversial bills in the House schedule for the week.

The Senate's main attraction will be an effort to break a filibuster over a voters' literacy test bill, with the showdown slated for Wednesday. The filibuster, now in its third week, has stalled the Senate's legislative machinery.

One major measure may get a big push toward enactment when the House votes Wednesday on a resolution to create a compromise committee to work out differences over a bill to aid higher education. The administration-backed measure has passed the House and the Senate in widely different form but technicalities have kept it out of a Senate-House compromise committee.

For an election year, both branches of Congress have been moving slowly. Up to May 1, only 45 public laws had cleared both branches and been sent to the President. During the 1960 election-year, 417 such laws were enacted.

Even the introduction of bills has slowed down to a trickle. Senators have introduced 165 bills to date and House members 622. In 1960, there were 1,497 Senate and 4,830 House bills offered.

One reason for the slowdown has been the absence of members involved in primary elections. By the end of May, however, most of the primaries will be out of the way and congressional leaders hope for a speed-up in legislation.

Colombia Voters Choose Valencia

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—Voter endorsed Colombia's system of coalition government by an overwhelming majority Sunday as the coalition's conservative candidate, Guillermo Leon Valencia, outstripped the field in the election for president.

Valencia, who claimed victory on the basis of incomplete returns, would succeed outgoing Liberal President Alberto Lleras Camargo under Colombia's system of alternating the president every four years between a Liberal and a Conservative.

Official returns from 12 of Colombia's 17 departments gave Valencia 1,099,635 votes to 337,338 for his nearest rival, leftist-supported Alfonso Lopez Michelsen. Jorge Leyva, former public works minister, was running third with 185,321. Former dictator Gustavo Rojas Pinilla trailed the field with 39,403.

As candidate of the coalition, Valencia is committed to carry out Lleras' policy of close ties with the United States and constitutional reform at home.

There were no reports of violence. The chief issue was whether to continue the Liberal-Conservative coalition system adopted in 1958 after the two parties threw out Rojas Pinilla and combined forces. Lleras took the first turn under the alternating system and this year it was the Conservatives' turn.

Red Chiefs Nabbed By Venezuelans

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—A Venezuelan warship captured several Communist leaders and two rebel naval officers fleeing in a boat after the collapse of the weekend uprising in Carupano.

The government announced in a communique today that Red deputy Eloy Torres was among the fugitives seized by the destroyer Moran off the coast of Venezuela.

President Romulo Betancourt praised the loyalty of the government forces in crushing the revolt he charged was sparked by Communists in an attempt to set up a Castro-type regime in Venezuela.

The rebellion of 400 marines and 50 military policemen in the port city of Carupano, 300 miles east of Caracas, never really got off the ground.

Betancourt, a bitter foe of Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro, sent land, sea and air forces to beat the rebels into surrender Saturday within 24 hours after they rose up against his left-of-center government.

The rebels put up a brief fight but failed to rally any popular support among the 16,000 residents of Carupano or the rest of the country.

The government placed the total casualties at between 5 and 40 dead and 30 to 150 wounded. Government losses were announced at 2 dead and 10 wounded.
